PROCUREMENT

During FY 1982, the responsiveness in the procurement area, Agency-wide, was increased sharply by the addition of three contracting teams. The first of these additions was at the National Photographic Interpretation Center (NPIC), with a senior contracting officer and two negotiators assigned to handle contracting requirements for the NPIC Development Plan (NDP). This plan is expected to require issuance of contracts in million-dollar figures over several years. The contracting team will handle general NPIC contracting requirements, as well as NDP. A second contracting team was installed in the International Affairs Division (IAD) of the Directorate of Operations. This was in response to escalating special activities and direction from senior management to provide closer Logistics overview of interaction with IAD on its procurement activities. This team consists of a senior contracting officer, backed up by one negotiator. In the National Intelligence Emergency Support Office, which is now a part of the Intelligence Community Staff, a single senior contracting officer was assigned to handle procurement requirements on a very large, high-priority program associated with [REDACTED] In the Office of Development and Engineering/DDS&T, two new programs were kicked off during the year, with one contracting officer assigned to each. Additional staffing is required and will be provided in FY 1983. STAT

FY 1983 is expected to be a growth year as was FY 1982, and an all-out effort will be made to complete staffing in response to new requirements remaining and those during the next fiscal year.
